Customer Evidence Creation Agreement

Thank you for partnering with Microsoft to share your story. This agreement outlines how Microsoft ("we") will work together with you and your organization (collectively "you") to create and share customer story materials (like written content, videos, or quotes) that highlight your success with Microsoft solutions. It also explains how your information will be used and protected. This agreement may also be used as the basis for future customer stories. After signing, we may contact you to seek your written approval to apply this agreement to new story content, without requiring a new signature each time. The parties agree as follows:

1. Our Collaboration

We'll work with you to create a customer story that may include:

- Written content, video, or quotes
- Details about your challenges, solutions, and results
- Interviews with your team (with their consent)

We will send you drafts along the way and only publish the final version once you give written approval. You can stop or pause the process at any time.

Microsoft representatives may contact you in the future and offer you the opportunity to participate in events, discussions with analysts, or conversations with other customers.

2. What You Approve

We will ask you to review and approve:

- The final customer story content for accuracy and to prevent inadvertent release of any of your confidential information before publication
- The use of your company name, logo, quotes, and any visuals (e.g., photos or video clips), in relation to the story

You agree to provide Microsoft with your approval or comments in writing (via email); nothing will be published or shared publicly without your written approval.

You agree that Microsoft may display your name, trademarks, and other identifying information, in the final approved customer story and when we publicly reference the materials. You also agree that Microsoft may use your name and logo to generally identify you as a user of the Microsoft products and services referenced in the customer story. This includes, but is not limited to, use on product pages, presentations, marketing collateral, and customer lists, provided such use is not presented in a way that implies endorsement or partnership beyond the factual use of Microsoft's offerings.

3. How the Story Can Be Used

Once approved, Microsoft may share the story through:

- Websites, social media channels, blog channels, press releases, email marketing, events, e-books, earnings calls, investor presentations, and other marketing or corporate communications activities.
- Microsoft partner or analyst briefings

You are also welcome to use the final story in your own marketing, recruiting, or PR.

We may later update Microsoft product or service names in the published story for branding accuracy, but we won't change the story content without your permission.

Both you and Microsoft may use the final approved customer story content in full or as unedited excerpts. This includes the right to publish, reference, translate, display, and share it across all current and future formats and media channels, and to extend these rights to our partners or third parties. If either of us wants to change the content after it's approved, we'll need to get the other's written consent.

4. Use of Personal Information

You agree to obtain sufficient permission from any of your employees and/or contractors, whose quotes, names, or pictures (typically headshots associated with quotes) appear in the customer story materials, to grant the rights described in this agreement.

If we collect names, emails, or other personal details during the process, we will:

- Use the information solely for creating and publishing the story
- Handle all personal data in line with the Microsoft Privacy Statement and applicable data protection laws (like GDPR)

5. Legal Protections

Each party (you and Microsoft) agrees:

- To only use approved materials as outlined above
- To protect the other from third-party claims insofar as they result from its actions under, or in breach of, this agreement (mutual indemnification)

6. Ending the Agreement

Either party can end this agreement or ask the other to stop sharing or referencing the story, at any time, by letting the other know in writing (via email); any cessation of use of the customer story at a party's direction will be mutual. You can ask Microsoft to stop the distribution, public referencing, and displaying of customer story materials, by sending a written request to CustStoryEditorial@microsoft.com (or any provided successor address), and we will promptly do so.

7. Jurisdiction

This agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Washington. Both parties consent to jurisdiction and venue in the state and federal courts (whichever is applicable) sitting in the State of Washington.

8. Controlling Language

This Agreement is made in the English language. Any translation of this Agreement is provided for convenience only. In the event of any discrepancy or inconsistency between the English version and any translation, the English version shall govern and control.

Acknowledged and agreed.

ORGANIZATION: DNV AS

Signature: Kurt DC Swakhoven

Printed Name: Kurt Swakhoven

Title: CTO

Date: 5-3-2026